

13th UNITED NATIONS CONGRESS ON CRIME PREVENTION AND CRIMINAL JUSTICE

Doha, 12–19 April 2015

For information only – not an official document

The Rule of law: what does it mean to you?

Let us know what the rule of law means to you by posting a short video clip or a photo on Facebook, Instagram or Twitter using the hashtag #myruleoflaw. You can also send it to [crimecongress\[at\]unvienna.org](mailto:crimecongress[at]unvienna.org) if you want us to upload it to the official Crime Congress platforms.

Get involved and check out our social media platforms

Website: <http://www.un.org/en/events/crimecongress2015>

Twitter account: @crimecongress13

Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/UNCrimeCongress2015>

Instagram account: @crimecongress

'It's a crime' campaign

Different crimes will be in focus, highlighting their links to sustainable development and telling their transnational story.

December: Human trafficking and migrant smuggling

January: Weak governance and corruption

February: Cybercrime

March: Wildlife and forest crime

April: How transnational organized crime prevents sustainable development

All mini-campaigns can be found under:

http://www.unis.unvienna.org/unis/en/events/2015/crime_congress.html

Exploring the nexus between crime and development

The 13th United Nations Crime Congress brings together governments, policy-makers and experts to share their experiences and intensify international cooperation in tackling the threat of transnational organized crime. The Doha Congress will focus on links between security, justice and the rule of law, and the attainment of a better, more equitable world. There can be no sustainable development without effectively tackling crime and having respect for the rule of law.

Use the #crimecongress hashtag when posting to make it easier to follow all Crime Congress activities.

Email us any questions or to let us know about your activities: crimecongress@unvienna.org